

Static station for metallic IML

- Labels with a high metal content can be processed

Each system must be checked in advance for the space available.
Before the implementation, the labels must be tested.