

De-ionize rods

The de-ionize rods provide a static discharge for labels and products. This ensures protection from the side effects of electromagnetic influence, often seen as floating products, especially with stacked products. The use of de-ionize rods grants a stable and repeatable process.

